ANNOUNCEMENTA SATELLITE SYMPOSIUM OF THE XXXI. INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF PHYSIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

Freie Universität Berlin, F. R. Germany

16 - 19 July, 1989

A Satellite Symposium on Macrovascular Networks: Facial Structure, Hemodynamic Properties and Physiological Functions will take place at Freie Universität Berlin from 16 - 19 July, 1989.

The aim of the Symposium is to introduce the network concept into microcirculatory studies in an attempt to better understand the relationship between structure and function as well as to resolve the disparity between macro- and microcirculatory physiology.

The Symposium will consist of invited expert presentations and free communications in oral or (mostly) poster form. Emphasis will be placed on ample time for discussion.
