FOUND AGAIN

We have known for a long time that the Editorial offices had magnificent cleaning staff. Recently, we have found that their discrimination extends beyond palpable dirt. Judging by the clean ones they have left us, they clearly must have eliminated many limericks which failed to meet their standards of purity.

A chess engine known as B-CLEANER
Seemed of quite independent demeanour,
But it wasn't at all,
Since, when pressed to the Wall,
It admitted: "Ich bin ein Berliner!"

When lost, he cried out: "No commotion!
Not queening, but knighting the notion...?
So what? Can't you see
That commercials like me
Can never risk underpromotion?"
