

Forthcoming in Information Services & Use

Volume 3, Number 3

This special issue will contain material from the symposium on Information for the Advancement of Science, held at the headquarters of BioSciences Information Service in Philadelphia in October of 1982. Contents are:

Preface, by Rita R. Colwell (issue editor)

Introduction, by H. Edward Kennedy

The changing electronic information environment, by Joseph F. Becker

The future of libraries in the information transfer chain, by Maurice B. Line

The importance of information for creative biological research, by Ernest J.W. Barrington

Scientific information and societal change, by Walter A. Rosenblith

The information commodity market, by Willis H. Ware

Questions (discussions)

Volume 3, Number 4

This issue will contain papers from the 1983 Spring Meeting of the Association of Information and Dissemination Centers (ASIDIC), whose theme was "Interfacing with the User" (see Conference Report in this issue). Titles and authors of the papers are:

User education for online information systems, by Charles T. Meadow

Educating and/or training the online searcher, by Carol M. Tschudi

Developing a self-training manual, by Donald R. Fleck

TRAINER: a computer tutorial for end-users of database services, by Nicholas and Elaine Caruso

Online training: the role of schools of library and information science, by Ann E. Prentice