Journal of Vocational Rehabilitation 5 (1995) 167

Special note from the Editor

Starting in 1996, the Journal of Vocational Rehabilitation will be expanding from 4 issues annually to 6 issues. Researchers, clinicians, advocates, and others involved in the rehabilitation of persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged to submit manuscripts for publication. The Journal will also continue to publish thematic issues as well. I believe we have a wonderful opportunity to use the Journal as the international vehicle for meaningful information on vocational rehabilitation and employment issues for people with disabilities.

A final word is in order. I am especially interested in papers related to choice, empowerment, and other issues that reflect consumer control. In the next issue, Michael West and Michael Wehmeyer are co-editing a series of papers on Self-Determination but the Journal continues to be interested in more papers along these lines, especially if people with disabilities are involved in designing or conducting the research.
