

From the Editor

We all know that life is full of choice; but perhaps what is more important is what we do when these choices present themselves. The 1993 commencement address provided by broadcaster, Gwen Ifill, at Simmons College in Boston, Massachusetts resonates with the importance of these choices. He said, “... Take every choice you are offered. Have as much fun as you can, when you can. Do not shrink from life, and do not shrink from choice.”

You have a choice in how you spend your time. I am delighted that you have selected WORK as a journal of choice to read. The editorial board and I feel great pride in providing you with cutting edge research, case studies, scholarly works, and commentaries by authors from all over the world. Thank you for choosing WORK.

As always, I look forward to hearing from you.

Cheers,

Karen
